Dear Parents, Guardians, and Caregivers,

Last Friday, Johnson School kicked off our Reading Rockstar Olympics with an assembly at Bethel Middle School. It was wonderful to see the enthusiasm and energy in the room. The purpose of this event is two-fold. First and foremost, we are committed to growing a passion for reading. Secondly, all proceeds from this event will go towards experimental learning for students. This includes field trips, speakers, authors and interactive presentations. Thank you for your support!

So you may ask, why is reading fundamentally important to academic success?

Reading Develops Important Language Skills. Whether it is books, magazines, or E-books, reading can help cement a child's language skills. Exposure to language helps a child to further develop their vocabulary in a way that everyday conversation cannot. Even at early ages when a child does not understand everything they read, they are able to come to conclusions about new words from the context of material.

Reading Is Especially Necessary With Today's Technology

Some once thought that the advent of computers would make reading less important, the exact opposite is true; it has made reading even more important. Gathering information on the web or even communicating via email and social media all require reading and writing. Even texting requires reading and writing skills!

Reading Opens Up The World

Very few of us are world travelers and even those who are can only see so many places in one's lifetime. Being able to read opens the world up to a child. They can learn about different cultures, histories, and societies. It shows life in a different way, both real and imagined. It can inform about the past, present, and future. In short, reading can take a child to then stars and back without ever leaving their home.

Reading Can Enhance Social Skills

This may sound like a contradiction since much of a person's reading is done in solitary. Consider this; early in life a child's reading consists of being read to or going to "story time." This makes books and reading something to be shared. It builds a relationship with reading. As time goes on and a person does more individual reading it can become a conversation piece much like a popular television show. A person who has just read a great book wants desperately to share the story with someone else. How many times have you read a book and couldn't wait to lend it to someone else? In addition, being someone who is "well read" is still a positive attribute in society as it often implies increased intelligence, being better cultured, and having a more interesting background for debates and conversations.

Reading is Fun!

Like a good movie, a book can be loads of fun. You can get whisked off to a world of wizards or trek through the galaxy on a spacecraft. Regardless of your child's interests, reading can be a great past time.

Please encourage your child to READ, READ, READ!

Very truly yours,
Alison Salerno

Tips to be a Finalist in this Year's Culinary Competition

Have your eye on the prize? Here are some tips that may help!

1. Be original - You don't have to be like everyone else. Consider putting a new twist on your favorite Asian Fusion recipe.
2. Be creative - A student once submitted a recipe for "dill cookies!" Sounds terrible, but they were actually great! Don't TRY to be too weird, but we love to see recipes that are different!
3. Don't do recipes that are too easy or too complicated.
4. This doesn't have to be your own, original recipe. You can get them off the Internet or anywhere, but try to alter it slightly to make it your own!
5. SORRY, only ONE person can make each recipe at the competition.
6. We are looking for healthy Asian Fusion food recipes, so try to avoid recipes with a lot of sugar or fat in them.
7. At the main competition, judges will consider the following 6 criteria:
 - Taste
 - Originality
 - Ease of Preparation
 - Healthy Attributes
 - Kid Appeal
 - Plate Presentation

The use of one or more of the following ingredients will earn up to 3 bonus points at the judging:

Low Sodium Soy Sauce, Low Sodium Teriyaki Sauce, Brown Rice, Bok Choy, Fresh Mushrooms, Lean Chicken, Lean Pork, Rice Noodles, Tofu, Garlic & Ginger.
